

Reds Are In 50 Miles Of Warsaw

Fighting on In Rail Bases Of Lwow and At Lublin

LONDON, July 24—(P)—Premier Stalin announced tonight the capture of the rail center of Lublin in southeastern Poland.

LONDON, July 24—(P)—The German radio acknowledged today that Russian troops had plunged within 50 miles of Warsaw, with Nazi troops abandoning Siedlce and Jaraslav.

The German communication reported fighting inside the great Polish rail centers of Lwow and Lublin.

Siedlce is 50 miles due east of the Polish capital. It lies 365 air-line miles from Berlin, by far the closest Allied approach to that bomb-ridden capital of Nazism.

The Nazi communication said Lwow (Pop. 317,000 and third Polish city) and Lublin (119,900 and tenth Polish city) had become battlefronts.

The enemy reported advance to Siedlce marked a 20 mile advance since midnight. The city is about midway between Warsaw and Brest Litovsk and lies on the main trunk rail line from Moscow to Warsaw and Berlin.

The German reference to a Russian advance reaching a line from Siedlce to Jaraslav pointed to a general retreat along a 150-mile front across the center of Poland.

The enemy apparently was being swept along with no signs of left by swift Red forces that left Lwow and Brest Litovsk by-passed more than 60 miles behind advanced Russian columns. The Germans appeared to have doomed the garrisons to miniature Stalingrads.

Elsewhere on the 950 mile rolling front, the Germans reported no major withdrawals. Indeed, they claimed to be counterattacking successfully between Brest Litovsk and Kaunas in Lithuania although this fighting cost them two more generals.

The German communication said Lt. Gen. Scheller and Maj. Gen. Von Treschow, chief of staff of an army, had been killed in action. At midnight the Russian communication announced the capture of the 361st infantry division commander, Maj. Gen. Lindemann, and the slaying of the commander of the Nazi 340th infantry, Maj. Gen. Doidler.

"Heavy fighting in the town of Lwow is going on," the German communication said, "the garrison of Lublin held its own against repeated enemy attacks."

Other Russians were reported by Moscow to be within these distances of major objectives:

Wislá (Vistula) river, which flows through Warsaw, 25 miles.

Riga, 74 miles southeast.

East Prussia, within two hours marching time. Here the Russians were standing cautiously on the fringe of the Masurian lakes, the strong natural defense positions in which Von Hindenburg defeated a Russian invasion in a welter of blood in 1914. German broadcasts have reported the Reds within eight miles of pre-war East Prussia borders and on the very edge of the Suwalki triangle, annexed in 1939 from Poland.

Bialystok, 10 miles.

Stanislawow in the Carpathian foothills approaches to Czechoslovakia and Hungary, 15 miles.

Krakow, 115 miles.

Memel, 125 miles.

German Silesia, 150 miles.

Gen. Abe Succeeds Gen. Koiso

By the Associated Press
The Tokyo radio announced today that Gen. Nobuyuki Abe had been named governor-general of Korea to succeed Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, who left that post last week to become Japanese premier.

The broadcast, recorded by U. S. government monitors, also said that Ryusaki Endo, former secretary of the treasury and a member of the house of peers, had been named chief administrator for Korea.

Yesterday Tokyo had announced the resignation of Abe as president of the imperial rule assistance political society, parliamentary wing of the imperial rule assistance association, Japan's totalitarian party.

Abe has served at various times as premier, foreign minister and ambassador to the Japanese sponsored puppet government at Nanking.

Talk on 'Fly Fishing' to Rotary

The regular meeting of the Sedalia Rotary club was held at the Bothwell Hotel today at noon, with Nolan Bricker presiding in the absence of President Lawrence Barnett.

The program for the day was in charge of N. E. (Nove) Randall, program chairman for the month of July. Mr. Randall introduced Dell Ilmberger, who gave a talk on the "Philosophy of Fly Fishing," and during the discourse demonstrated the art of tying "flies." Said Mr. Ilmberger, "Twenty-five years ago there were very few people in the country who knew anything about fly tying, and those who did know tried to keep their knowledge a secret. Today not only is this art followed by thousands of people as a hobby but it has become a very extensive industry. You can get books on this, there are magazines in circulation and many people are earning a living by catering to this outdoor sport."

The speaker continued by pointing out some of the habits of thought of the fishing fraternity. Said he, "a real fisherman is individualistic when it comes to using a fly. He must have a certain type and unless he does not feel that he can catch fish. And after all that is the secret of successful fishing. If you think you can catch them, you can." He then called attention to the display board containing a large number of specimens of his handiwork, also a number of the materials used in tying fly. These ranged from skunk fur to just common ordinary chicken feathers.

In reference to outdoor recreation he quoted from General Dwight D. Eisenhower on the eve of "D" day when this great leader said to his men, "Let's get the job done and then go fishing."

Guests for today were Lt. (jg) James B. King with his father, J. Fred King, and Rotarian Lynn Henderson of Liberty, Mo.

Big Bombers In Attacks in Three Areas

Kiel, Bucharest And Berlin Among City Targets

LONDON, July 24—(P)—A maximum of 500 U. S. heavy bombers attacked German air-dromes, harbors and other objectives today in Southern France, Northern Italy and Yugoslavia.

A great fleet of British bombers cast 2,800 tons of explosives on the great naval base of Kiel before dawn and Allied planes from Italy bombed the Romanian capital of Bucharest.

British heavy bombers attacked flying bomb installations in Northern France for the third time in about a day's span. This was the only daylight operation reported from England up to late afternoon. Weather worsened over Normandy with only a few small breaks in the virtually complete overcast.

Strike at Genoa

The leading Italian port of Genoa, 85 miles up the west coast from the battlefront at Pisa, was struck. Four German troop concentrations in Southern Yugoslavia were targets across the Adriatic from Italy.

Other objectives included tank repair shops and a ball bearing factory. A few enemy interceptors were encountered.

Mustangs and lightning fighters escorted the heavy bombers from Italy. The French airfields were at Valence, La Tresorerie and Les Chanoines. The tank repair shop was the North Italian city of Turin. The ball bearings works was ten miles southwest at Orbassano.

The German radio said heavy attacks against the Reich were developing again today.

The Germans reported enemy fighting formations over southwest Germany and Bavaria, suggesting that Allied planes from Italy might be joining in the attack.

Five separate bomber forces were sent out from Britain last night by the RAF, the largest raining destruction on Kiel at the rate of 150 tons of bombs per minute.

Attack on Berlin
At the same time squadrons of RAF Mosquitos attacked Berlin with 4,000-pound blockbusters for the 13th time since D-day and formations of these speedy, all-purpose planes also provided overnight support for Allied ground forces in Normandy by pounding enemy troop movements in the Rouen and Amiens districts.

Night-flying Mosquitos also bombed an undisclosed objective in the Ruhr. The total loss in these sweeping overnight operations, which also included laying mines in enemy waters was eight planes. Two of these were lost in support operations over the Normandy battle area.

Mediterranean-based Allied heavy bombers, meanwhile, struck an oil refinery at Berat in Albania by daylight yesterday, and last night blasted military targets at Bucharest.

The aerial offensive from the west was resumed at daybreak with Allied planes racing across Britain's southeast coast and shortly before noon the German radio said strong Allied bomber formations were approaching western and southwestern Germany.

Truman to Quit Important Job

KANSAS CITY, July 24—(P)—I'm quitting a tremendously important job to do another even more important," said Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee when he returned today to his Kansas City office to greet a long line of well-wishers and friends.

"My job is to help bring the war to a close as quickly as possible by keeping the Democratic party in power," Truman declared, and added:

"We are going to win overwhelmingly in the November election."

Truman said he had definitely decided to resign his chairmanship of the senate committee investigating war production "just as soon as we have our next meeting" and that he would "pitch into" the campaign whenever and wherever President Roosevelt told him to.

"He's the commander-in-chief," said the lithe, 60-year-old vice presidential nominee, "and I'll do whatever he says."

That was as far as he'd go in setting his plans for the campaign. He had only a round of receptions, luncheon and personal engagements so far, Truman indicated, with a trip to St. Joseph Tuesday night.

Six persons remain missing since the catastrophe, among them Mrs. William Fifield of Newport, Vt., and Eleanor Cook, 8, of Southampton, Mass.

Purge Expands To Fronts

Arrests of More Officers on Nazi Rebellion

London, July 24—(P)—Heinrich Himmler's prowling strong-arm Gestapo squads today were reported carrying out one of the biggest purges in Hitlerite Germany's blood-stained history seeking to hold down an internal upheaval which British Prime Minister Churchill called a revolution.

While German army morale appeared badly shaken, there was no concrete evidence yet of any disaffection in the front lines. The Nazis clearly were still in firm control both of the army and of Germany itself.

Reports from France pictured Adolf Hitler's purge of rebellious army officers as having spread to the fighting fronts in Germany, France and possibly Italy. These reports said eight eastern front commanders were arrested or ousted, and that Gestapo agents had arrested and possibly executed German divisional leaders in France and seized Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, the German army commander in Italy. One report said Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz of the Bordeaux sector in France had ordered his troops on Monday to prepare for emergencies, but that he later cancelled the order on learning the attempt on Hitler's life had failed. Blaskowitz since has been absent from his headquarters, it was added.

Weakness Pronounced
Churchill, now back in Britain after a three-day tour of the Normandy front, gave the first official word on the crisis in Germany. While visiting an RAF flying field in France yesterday, Churchill declared there were "grave signs of weakness" in Germany. He predicted the war "might come to an end earlier than we have a right to say."

Declaring the Germans were not happy on the fighting fronts, Churchill remarked:

"And now, suddenly boiling up in their stomachs, has come a deadly quarrel at home. It is not a nice thing for a man to hear of a revolution going on in his own country when he is being attacked." Of the attempt on Hitler's life, Churchill said with a grin:

"They missed the old bouncer (rough approximation) — but there's time yet."

Reluctant on Loyalty
Berlin was silent on the counter measures taken against the German officers whom Hitler said had planned to kill him. German uneasiness was underscored in these things which were left unsaid:

1. Not a single general on the eastern front, where the German armies have been reeling back toward their own borders, has come forward personally to pledge loyalty to the fuhrer, though the Nazis claimed a blanket pledge.
2. With the exception of Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former German general staff chief, the names of the plotters — the "mad generals" described by Reichsmarschall Hermann Goering — still have not been announced.
3. Propaganda Minister Paul

Allies Are Massing Forces For a Start Of New Onslaughts

TODAY ON THE War Fronts

LONDON, July 24—(P)—The German home force's radio today broadcast an appeal to "mobilize to the last strength."

"Whoever fails to do his duty is no longer one of us," said the broadcast, which presumably now is under the direction of Heinrich Himmler, delegated by Adolf Hitler to command the home forces.

"No one has the right to live, not even breathe, who does not carry arms or forge them."

Two Generals Of Nazi Bomb Blast Victims

Korten and Brandt Deaths Bring the Toll to Three

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 24—Two German generals, one chief of the air force general staff, have died of injuries from the Thursday bomb blast aimed at Hitler's life, Berlin radio announced today.

Gestapo squads meanwhile were reported carrying forward a vast blood purge to quell what Prime Minister Winston Churchill termed a revolution in Germany.

Berlin listed the dead officers as Col. Gen. Guenther Korten, the chief of the German air force general staff and Maj. Gen. Heinz Brandt, first officer in the army general staff's operative section. This brought to three the announced death toll of the explosion.

The Nazis already had announced the death of the fuhrer's collaborator and double, whose name first was given as "Berger" but was reported today as Heinrich Bernger.

Hitler Salute in Army
Another Berlin broadcast declared the "Hitler salute" has been introduced in place of the army salute in the German armed forces — apparently as another step to assure loyalty of the troops to Hitler and Nazism.

On the German frontier the Associated Press learned from reliable but secret channels that the Himmler purge has barely touched the real leaders and organizers of resistance to Hitler, even although the Nazis apparently had won their first major battle with well organized internal opposition.

Korten was appointed chief of staff on the German air force last August, succeeding the late Col. Gen. Hans Jesschonnek. He apparently was close to Hitler, accompanying him on a tour of the Atlantic wall defenses last April.

DAILY WASHINGTON
merry-go-round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, July 24 The uncensored diplomatic pouch from London reports that the proportion of Americans killed by Hitler's robot bombs is greater than the proportion of British. This is because Americans in London haven't learned to adjust themselves to living in a city where death lurks at every corner.

Since the number of Americans in London is less than the number of British, the total number of Americans killed is naturally less than the number of British killed, but proportionately the American lives lost are greater.

What happens is that a Britisher walking down a London street instinctively looks for the nearest lamp post, pillar, pile of bricks or anything that will serve as protection. He does this before there is any explosion or even any noise of an approaching robot. He has been trained to do it for four long and perilous years during which death was constantly dropping out of the sky, in the same way that a single-engine airplane pilot flying from Washington to New York is constantly on the lookout for emergency landing places such as cow pastures, even when his motor is whirring perfectly.

Because Americans aren't trained in watching for means of protection in the street, they lose split second's time necessary to get out of the way of flying glass and bricks.

In addition, American troops suffered one unhappy accident when a robot bomb landed in the middle of a detail of men who were getting ready to leave in trucks. Lined up in a London street, they were wiped out.

Destruction of the Robot

Authentic London reports are not too encouraging regarding destruction of the robot bomb. The greatest success has been in knocking it out in the air with fighter planes. However, it takes a robot just 3 and 1/2 minutes to cross the channel, so the fighters have to work with terrific speed. (Total time from the bomb's launching until the time it hits London is estimated at 10 minutes.)

If they knock the bomb down over London, it explodes with just as much damage as if they had let it alone, so there is only one place to go after it — over the channel.

Once a robot escapes the fighters and passes over London, anti-aircraft fire is stopped and the only thing to do is to let the bomb take its course and explode where ever it hits.

Furthermore, it is not easy to knock down a robot over the channel. Gunfire must strike its nose in order to explode it. A cannon ball in the body of the robot plane, however, will usually knock it out. Some intrepid fighters have flown up very close — the robot cannot fire back — and tipped up its wing with the wing of the fighter. When the robot's wing is tipped more than 45 degrees, the gyroscope which keeps it on balance fails to function and the robot goes into a dive.

If the fighter is too close when a robot explodes in the air, the repercussion is so great that the fighter sometimes is knocked to pieces.

Bombing the robot launching platforms is also extremely difficult because they are protected with tons of concrete. About the only way to blow them up is to place a bomb squarely in the mouth of the launching platform.
However, since the mouth of the platform slopes into the concrete at a gentle angle, like the entrance to a hillside coal mine, it is difficult to drop a bomb inside.

Note — The Germans recently have perfected a clock which goes off inside the robot about ten minutes after it leaves France or about the time it is over London. This clock turns the robot's tail rudder so that it makes an eerie, graceful curve as if someone were inside piloting it, or as if it were radio-controlled. This sudden turn is calculated by the Germans to send it in a different direction from that in which the Map above shows bomber-distances from Guam to such strategically important Jap-held areas as the outlying Marianas Islands, the Bonins, Japan itself, the Carolines and the Philippines.

Party Is Given For Soldiers

At a party for soldiers of Section E of Sedalia Army Air Field and their young lady friends, given at Brigadier General Davis USO, the feature attraction was the vocal rendition of several popular numbers by Pvt. Eldon Moore, tenor, stationed at the army air base of Waterhas, S. C., home on furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Moore, 409 West Johnson street. He has appeared on stage and radio performances in several different states.

Intricate tap dancing by Miss Leona Gray, accompanied by Mrs. Florine Gantt, was also enthusiastically received. Refreshments were enjoyed. Favors of lollipops with tiny hearts tied on were given each guest.

An increasing number of garments are being altered and mended each Friday afternoon by women volunteers, a project sponsored by Brigadier General Davis USO. Special activities are being planned for Wednesday night, Army Wives night.

Sabath Kept FDR's Secret

Out of the dozens of congressmen who tried to pry loose Roosevelt's carefully kept secret regarding a fourth term, one man who really knew, but kept the secret, was his close friend, Representative Adolph Sabath of Chicago.

The Czech-born veteran congressman, head of the powerful rules committee, had two talks with Roosevelt about running again. At the first, last winter, the president was an enigma. But during the second talk, in May, Sabath got a clear indication that the president would run.

"We've got to have someone who can sit down with Churchill and Stalin and keep up the power and prestige of the USA," Sabath told him. "You're the only man who can do that."

Roosevelt, in reply, agreed to think it over, indicating the answer would be yes.

Sabath never let the secret out.

Salute to a Lady

Enlisting as a Red Cross Nurse after her American husband has been killed in action, German-born Charlotte Moore undergoes hospital training. Her particular group is called "The Foreign Legion" and includes European, Mexican, Brazilian, Japanese, Belgian, Yvonne and English Elizabeth. They receive Army commissions upon graduation and fly under orders to a secret destination. This turns out to be a three-day hospital in the heart of Algeria where they are desperately needed because of the recent American landings in North Africa. Dr. Merrill and Miss Fryberg are in charge.

Work! And we have no eight-hour day! A day is long only if you make it long."

The operating room in barrack "A" had no linoleum floor and no tile walls but everything a doctor would need for antiseptic work. There was even an electric light and a wash basin with a sort of running water, not from central plumbing but from a container hanging over the basin. Everything planned at home, everything transported 6000 miles, everything part of a miracle.

There were enamel cases with instruments, medicine chests with drugs and dressings, water jugs, buckets, rubber things. The barrack wards, wooden rectangular, were not exactly luxurious but far from being as primitive as Yvonne had indicated.

"These iron cots with pillows and blankets are heaven for those who have lain wounded in blood and sand," Miss Fryberg replied, rather offended. "You mustn't forget where we are. The field dressing station directly behind the front line consists of a tent, a stretcher, and one chair. We are said to be in the same place as a Grand Hotel compared to them."

Then, hurriedly, she took us to the village.

The village itself was a typical Arab set, with white clay cubicles for houses, a mosque with a minaret, a public bath and a market center. Miss Fryberg, in whispers, gave us instructions on how to address the natives, how to respect their customs, how to guard our dignity in their eyes.

On the way back she asked that we bring all questions, requests, or complaints to her personally and not bother Dr. Merrill with them. "Dr. Merrill is not only a surgeon, he is a great scientist, always searching for new methods in his field. I worked side by side with him for nearly 10 years at Johns Hopkins. I know his obsession for work, and his greatness, and you all will learn to admire it soon. But I insist that you do not disturb him with your problems. We will be sent an assistant doctor in a couple of days. He might be your second choice if I should be busy." That sounded very plausible to me and I didn't give the order a second thought until Yvonne whispered in my ear: "It means, plainly spoken, that she is in love with him and jealous of all other females."

"Your brain runs only on one track," I said.

"On the right track," she answered.

Back in the house Miss Fryberg asked: "Would someone volunteer for night duty right away?" Ten hands went up at once.

Mali and Elizabeth were chosen. "I'll go with you tonight," said Miss Fryberg. "Freda and Caroline will be happy to get a wink of sleep. They have been on their feet ever since we arrived."

Howard used to say: War is a secret among soldiers. How right he was. Though we are as close to war as women can be, though we take the wounded boys from the battlefield, though we hear their first words and their last ones, though we write their letters and hold their fevered hands, war is their secret and we don't know what it is. One boy whose arm had to be amputated said to me when he came to after the narcosis: "I am not sorry about my arm, nurse, only for my golden wrist watch. It was such a beautiful thing." But his eyes were filled with unforgettable horror and with a knowledge of war that none of us can share.

The boys in their beds rarely talk to each other of how it had been; they try to best each other with wisecracks even through their pain. But there is that certain something in their eyes which is like the bond between two people who have shared a lifetime.

Those who can be transported without risk will be taken by hospital ship to a big Army hospital in Washington, D. C. But there are many others who cannot be moved yet. Our three wards are already filled. (To Be Continued)

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marshall of LaMonte had a family reunion at their home Sunday at which all of their children, were present with the exception of two sons who are in military service.

The group included Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Fort Thomas, Ky., Mrs. Philip Byrnes and son, Steve, of Pierre, S. Dak., Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwall and Miss Jo Ann Marshall of Kansas City.

A basket dinner was held Sunday at Liberty park in honor of Pfc. and Mrs. Charles E. Paige who are visiting his aunt, Mrs. Lucinda Proctor, 1703 South Ohio avenue, and other Sedalia relatives and friends.

Pfc. Paige, on furlough from Herbert Smart Air Field, Macon, Ga., will report back to that field Friday.

Thirty-four relatives and friends attended the dinner.

Red Cross Corner

The Pettis County Chapter, in common with all other Red Cross Chapters throughout the United States, was distressed to learn of the death of the National Red Cross Chairman, Norman Davis. A humanitarian, in every sense of the word, his place in the world will not be easily filled. Basil O'Connor was recently appointed by the president to act as chairman.

The following members of the Red Cross Canteen went to the station hospital, SAAF, Sunday July 16, to give their usual pleasant entertainment for the patients:

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Pettis County Chapter met at headquarters office, last Wednesday morning. Philip McLaughlin, chapter chairman, presided.

The production institute, held last Monday at the Armory, was satisfactory in every respect. With our chapter as host, 15 other chapters in this area were invited to be present, and 11 were able to send representatives. Discussions of all procedures in the production program were discussed; the morning session being devoted to Surgical Dressings, and the afternoon to sewed garments, knitted articles, and kit bags. The Pettis County Chapter was commended for the fine work that has been done, and we would like to emphasize one thing: All credit is due the chairman of the various corps and departments for our successful records. These women have worked long and hard to make the production end of the Chapter the great success that it is today. To the chairman: Our thanks and appreciation.

One word as to our Junior staff assistants. Mary Frances Berne, and Dorothy Dean are working in the office this summer, and shaping up remarkably well.

On the occasion of their first anniversary, the Red Cross Gray Ladies were guests at a dinner party given last week at the Officers Club at the SAAF. The hosts were the Red Cross personnel at the Base and the Military authorities. The party was given in recognition of the really splendid work rendered by this group of Red Cross volunteers for the past year.

Entertain Soldiers From the Air Base

The Bois d'Arc club met at the community house, nine members and four visitors present. Miss Minnie Scott read a poem, "Somebody Must Walk." An account of Miss Slusher being the first to solo at the airport flying school was read by Mrs. V. Todd. Catherine Scott told a story "Cows," which was an informative essay.

A one act play, "Mrs. Frump Goes to Short Course," was presented by Mrs. J. Vademar. Mrs. George Pittsen, and Misses Elizabeth and Catherine Scott. A sack display was then held. The members of the club contributed ten towels to the Melita Day Nursery.

The club entertained fourteen soldiers from the Sedalia Air Base at the community house, July 16 at luncheon and supper.

The next meeting will be a picnic supper August 9 with their families at the community house.

The ruins of Rome's ancient Colosseum look down upon a scene older than they are—a guy and a gal engrossed in nothing in the world but themselves. Next Week in the Garden

Let Potatoes Mature

Irish potatoes make their most rapid development during the last few weeks of their growth. During this time all the vigor of the vine goes into enlarging the tubers. They should therefore be allowed to complete their growth if maximum yield is to be obtained.

The final process of development is the toughening of the skin, which is the outer protection against evaporation from the tuber and the entrance of rot organisms.

Commercially, in Missouri, potatoes are harvested before the vines complete their growth and die. This is done because the price at that time of the year is higher than later. When harvested immature the skin is not fully developed and therefore will "slip" or "scuff" easily upon handling. Naturally, in this stage it will not give maximum protection, which is essential for storage.

Let Tomatoes Ripen on the Vine

A tomato which is allowed to reach the full ripe stage on the vine has a delicious flavor which is never present in a tomato which is harvested when only partially ripe.

Comparatively few people have ever enjoyed the delicious taste of a truly vine-ripened tomato. Red varieties of tomatoes, when they are vine-ripened, have a deep red color all over, even up to the stem. Such a tomato when cut open, is dark red inside also. The cell walls are thick and red, without any green core or light areas. The seed cells are entirely filled with pulp. Such a tomato is heavier than one less mature because it contains more food and is distinctly higher in quality.

Picking tomatoes from the vine in the partially ripe stage and allowing them to stand until they change color is a common practice. It is erroneously thought that these tomatoes, when they turn red, become ripe. In the true sense of the word, however, these tomatoes only get darker in color and do not really ripen. The flavor is only slightly improved by this color change and they will never have the delicious flavor of a tomato ripened on the vine.

Freezing of Corn

Sweet corn cut off the cob and frozen is much like corn freshly gathered from the garden. Corn frozen on the cob is a disappointment to most people as it does not equal the quality of fresh roasting ears. Nevertheless, to some because of their novelty in winter they are a very special dish. Corn on the cob also requires considerable locker space.

Harvest the corn early in the morning. Select ears with round kernels, milky juice, and sweet flavor. Avoid hard or immature kernels. Handle quickly. Husk, silk, and trim the ears. Scald on the cob for 2-3½ minutes. Cool rapidly and thoroughly in cold water, cut from the cob and pack dry in a vapor proof, air tight container. Take immediately to the freezing room.

If you wish to freeze corn on the cob, select and prepare for scalding as for corn off the cob. Scald until the milk is well set (3-7 minutes depending on size of grain and maturity of corn). Cool rapidly and thoroughly. Wrap each ear in boxes or wrap in paper used for wrapping meat for freezing. Label as to number of ears in each box.

Canning Corn Requires Care

In the canning budget corn is listed under "other vegetables"—not green and yellow vegetables. However, it would be wise to can yellow corn rather than white as yellow corn has more food value than white corn.

Corn has the highest spoilage record of any canned vegetable, hence one should proceed with care to insure success. To have a sweet rather than a starchy product and to make more sure no spoilage will occur, it is extremely important that corn be canned immediately after it is gathered.

It is advisable to use a pressure cooker with an accurate gauge in canning corn. However, many people use a water bath with a fair degree of success. If one wishes to take the risk involved in using a water bath, these precautions should be taken: 1) Can only fresh, sound, high quality corn, 2) can only in pint jars, 3) allow no delay in any step in the canning process, 4) pack the corn boiling hot into hot jars; place each jar in water bath as soon as filled—do not wait until all jars to be processed are filled, 5) make sure the water in the water bath is boiling or near boiling when the jars are put in and at least 1 inch over the tops of the jars, 6) see that the water remains over the top of the jars and in a rolling boil for the full processing time.

More Peaches From Arkansas

According to G. J. Greene, county agent in Johnson County, Arkansas, the prospect for Johnson county peaches is excellent. Their crop this year is estimated at a half-million bushels. That may mean more peaches for Pettis county home canners. He says, "The growers have taken unusually good care of their orchards, consequently the quality of these peaches should be excellent. The early varieties are already on the market with the Shinn Clings and Golden Jubilee starting to move about July 1. The Elbertas will probably be ready two weeks later."

Mr. Greene says, "The peach crop is one of the main contributions our county is making to the war food basket." Pettis county people who are contributing other types of food will be very much interested in getting some of these peaches to help take care of the fruit needs of their families.

Billy Mewes Of Oak Grove 4-H Club Makes Good In Project Work Despite Handicaps

One Pettis county 4-H lad who estimate the value Billy is getting from it.

defeat him is Billy Mewes of the Oak Grove 4-H club. Billy is 12 years old and has been in the club 2 years. Although he is crippled so he has to get around in a cart similar to a baby walker he does his own 4-H work and enjoys it. This year his project is pop corn and he has kept the weeds out of it himself.

On rare occasions he has help from his little sister, Dorothy, who is not old enough to be a 4-H member and his cousin, Marie, who is also too young for 4-H. These two girls are practicing up for the time they can be full fledged 4-H'ers.

Billy can't manage a hoe with a full length handle so he has what his parents call "a half hoe." It is a hoe with a short handle made especially for him.

In addition to hoeing his corn he hoed all of his mother's tomatoes.

The pop corn is now well developed, so Billy is looking forward to the time when he can gather it and sell part of the crop. Of course he, his family, and fellow club members will enjoy their share of it.

A flock of hens on the farm is the result of Billy's last year's 4-H project carried on into 1944 and although he cannot do all the work in caring for them, he does his part. They are an example of family cooperation.

His mother, Mrs. Elmer Mewes, is the 4-H leader but doesn't drive the car, so when she needs to go to 4-H meeting Mr. Mewes takes her. That makes the family 100 per cent cooperators. The parents are enjoying it and no one can

Program On Legumes To Be Expanded

Restrictions On Total Payments Being Lifted

Announcing details of a newly expanded program to encourage the harvesting of legume and grass seeds this year, N. E. Dodd, Chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, Washington, warns farmers that there is critical shortage of these seeds.

"Our domestic hay and pasture supply and soil conservation program cannot be maintained unless we harvest more seed," the AAA chief has written C. E. Ferguson, chairman of the Pettis County AAA committee.

Recognizing the need for emergency action, congress has provided a special fund of $12,500,000, to the Triple A to stimulate harvesting of legume and grass seeds. Under the expanded program:

1. Harvesting of alfalfa, red clover, alsike, sweet clover, crimson clover, orchard grass and lespedeza seed becomes an "unlimited practice" in the AAA conservation program which means that cooperating farmers in Missouri can obtain the regular AAA payment of $3.50 an acre for this practice on any number of acres from which a justifiable yield of seed is harvested.

2. Additional special payments will be made by AAA of 3 1-2 cents a pound on red clover seed (cleaned basis) and 2 1-2 cents a pound on alfalfa and alsike clover seed (cleaned basis, for harvesting of these seed varieties.

Lift Restrictions

There will be no restrictions on the total payments which can be earned by a farmer for harvesting legume and grass seed, Dodd explained. In the past, such payments could be earned only up to 10 acres. The AAA also has exempted such payments from the so-called "farm allowance" established by the county committee for each farm.

Red clover, alfalfa, and alsike clover have been chosen for the special poundage payments because of their extreme scarcity relative to our needs, Dodd stated.

"Every farmer who can harvest some of the seeds included in this special program should do so in his own interest and in that of the nation," the AAA chief added.

"unfavorable weather plus the hay, pasture and food crops during the war have reduced our harvest of legume and grass seed during the past two years. We need seed to grow soil-enriching legume and grass crops in this country. If at all possible, we also want to share some seeds with the farmers of countries being liberated by our armed forces. By giving them seed, we can help them get their farming operations back to normal and thus reduce their dependence upon this country for food."

Pettis Roundup Set For Aug. 18

Friday, August 18, has been set as the day for the Pettis County 4-H Round-Up at Convention Hall, Liberty Park. This event will climax the year's activities of 4-H work.

At the Round-Up all 4-H members are expected to participate in exhibits, demonstrations or judging. Although it is based on contests from which county winners are selected, the day is also used as a day of instruction by which the members, leaders and others in attendance may profit.

Quisenberry Girls Do Real Canning

The food preservation girls of the Quisenberry Hustlers 4-H club are practicing in quantity instead of samples when they do their canning. At one meeting at the home of Lois Burton, the girls canned 5 pints of peas for Lois's mother in addition to preparing 2 packages for the locker for Lois and several packages for Mary Ruth Booth.

The girls in the club are: Earline Thompson, Mary Ruth Booth, and Lois Burton, with Mrs. Paul Read as their leader. These girls are having a good time learning to can, freeze, dry, brine, and store fruits and vegetables.

Demonstration On Slip Covers

A demonstration on making slip covers by Miss Margaret Isenhardt, home demonstration agent, was a feature of a recent meeting of Brick Homemakers club. "Something I Want to Accomplish This Year" was the subject of roll call.

Mrs. Hudson and Miss Drake of Warsaw were guests.

The August 15 meeting will be held with a former member, Mrs. Fred Gertz of Syracuse.

Next Week in the Kitchen

Once-A-Day Service For Summer Pullet Range

The summer range shelter, barrel waterer, and range feeders are the "key" to pullet raising with less labor on the average farm. For this equipment to make its contribution to pullet production, it is of course necessary that it be located on clean range and where green feed is available. One day service will get the job done.

4-H Club Camp August 1 To 4

Pettis And Henry Counties' Groups Will Camp Together

4-H Club Camp this year has met with much enthusiasm from Pettis county boys and girls. It is apparent that not only the children but their parents as well, appreciate the desirability of this type of vacation for these young people before they return to school.

Pettis and Henry County 4-H members will camp together for the period of August 1-4 at the Federal Recreation Area near Knob Noster where 4-H camps have been held for the past seven years.

Although wartime handicaps have made it difficult to obtain the camp personnel, a competent staff of nurse, lifeguard, camp director and 2 cooks has been secured to serve during the entire 4-H camping period. In addition to the camp staff Dorothy Bacon and Audra Robertson, Home Demonstration Agents of Henry and Pettis Counties and J. U. Morris, County Agent of Pettis county will attend the camp to direct the activities of the boys and girls. It is expected that several local leaders will also attend.

Recreation

The camp schedule includes recreations of all types, handicraft, physical fitness classes, campfire, nature study and the 4-H Candle Light Ceremony.

During the first five days of registration for the camp, Pettis county members filled their quota. There are several boys and girls hoping that Henry county will not have a full quota so more may attend from Pettis. The camp accommodates 108 persons. This total was divided tentatively to accommodate 60 boys and girls from

Fruit Drinks

Fruit drinks are relished at anytime but they have a special appeal when served cold in the summertime. Any fruit juice or combination of fruit juices plus a little lemon or other acid fruit juice, if served ice cold, is a refreshing, appetizing beverage. The juice left from canned cherries, peaches, pears, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, plums, and other fruits, accented with a little fresh lemon, grapefruit, or orange juice, may well be served in concentrated form at the beginning of a meal. Such juices diluted, iced, and served in the afternoon or evening alone or in combination with a sandwich, cookie, or wafer will make welcome refreshments.

A sugar sirup made by boiling equal parts of sugar and water together for 5 minutes is more desirable for sweetening fruit drinks than plain sugar. Also, the sirup is a sugar-saver as it prevents the sugar used from being left in the bottom of the glass.

Tea is often used as a base for various fruit punches because it brings out the flavor of the juices and makes them go farther. Mint leaves steeped in boiling water and this water added to lemonade or to some other fruit juice adds an unusual and delicious flavor.

Whole fresh or canned strawberries, cherries, raspberries, fresh mint sprigs, thin sections or slices of lemon or orange are attractive fruit beverage garnishes.

Lookout Club Makes Plans For Wintertime

The Lookout 4-H Club members have been working like ants. They are laying away their food supply for next winter for the hot lunches at school.

The members with their leader, Mrs. Mary Roberts, gathered 11 quarts of gooseberries one afternoon which were canned by some of the mothers, Mrs. Elmer Curtiss, Mrs. Lauren Arnett, and Mrs. T. E. Hoke. These were canned for the hot school lunches.

The 4-H club members had a picnic after they finished gathering berries. This was not only work but proved to be a good time for the boys and girls too. These club members expect to have some produce from their gardens to add to the school lunch canning.

Pettis county and 40 from Henry county.

After August 4 the camp facilities will be used by other nearby counties to conduct their 4-H

Nicholson Sets Nat. League Record

First Player to Lead Circuit in HR's and RBI's for 2 Years in Succession

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Nicholson, Chicago Cubs' greatest slugging outfielder since Hack Wilson, may become the first player in the National League history to lead the circuit in home runs and runs-batted-in for two successive years.

The husky former Washington College (Maryland) football star hit four homers and drove in seven runs to take over or share the lead in both departments, as the Cubs and the New York Giants divided a double header yesterday, the Cubs winning the opener 7-4 and the Giants the nightcap 12-10.

Nicholson's four homers in a twin-bill tied a major league record and placed him in a tie with Mel Ott of the Giants for the league lead with 21 each. It also gave Nick six homers in four games, tying another National League mark, held by four players.

Big Bill's seven RBI's gives him a total of 64, tops in the majors. He led the senior circuit last year with 29 home runs and 128 runs batted in. Only Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1922 and '25, and Chuck Klein of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1931 and '33, even led the loop in homers and runs-batted-in for two years, though neither led for successive years.

Each club tied a loop record when both the Giants and the Cubs used seven pitchers in the wild second game. The total of 14 hurlers is a new major league record, displacing the old one of 12 set by the Cubs and Cincinnati in an 18-inning game during 1942.

The league leading St. Louis Browns bounced back, after a 12-1 lacing to defeat the Boston Red Sox 9-3 in the second game, aided by Vernon Stephens' grand slam home run in the fourth.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their first place lead to 13 games by sweeping a double header from the Boston Braves, 3-2 and 5-2.

Two streaks were snapped when the Philadelphia Athletics took both games of a twin bill to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-5 and 9-4 in 11 innings. It marked the Dodgers' fifth straight loss and their 21st in the last 23 games.

The New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox divided their two games, the Yankees winning the opener 7-6, and the Sox taking the second game 10-6.

The Phillies continued their jinx over Bucky Walters of the Reds when they knocked him out of the box and overcame a six-run deficit to win the opener 7-6. Cincinnati won the second game 2-2, when Catcher Ray Mueller homered in the seventh with one on.

Cleveland went over the .500 mark for the first time since May 11 by taking both games from the Washington Senators 4-3 and 9-5.

Jr. Legion Loses 5 to 6 At Marshall

Again Errors Play Big Part in Locals Losing Ball Game

The Sedalia Junior Legion dropped a hard fought game to the visiting Marshall ball club at Liberty Park by a score of 5 to 6. Errors were a large factor in the loss for the home town team.

Marshall drew first blood scoring a lone run in the third inning, they came back in the fifth to tally two more and one in the sixth. But the Sedalians tightened up their belts in the last half of the sixth staging their own little rally which brought the score up to a tie, four all. Marshall scored again in the eighth and ninth.

What was expected to be a possible rally fizzled out for the Sedalians but they scored one run, just one shy of putting the game into another deadlock.

Harmon of Sedalia hit a three sacker while Sinnet and Meyers of Marshall clotted the ball for three bases. Westuck of the visitors got eight strikeouts to one by Harmon.

Ousting Japs At Marianas

U. S. Forces Cut Off Apra Harbor And an Airfield

By J. B. Krueger
Associated Press War Editor

American marines and infantrymen today were rapidly finishing Japan's 25-year-long dominion in the Marianas, keystones of Nippon's oceanic defenses.

Tinian was invaded Sunday and to the south of Guam other U. S. fighting men closed in from two beachheads to cut off Guam's fine Apra harbor and an airfield. Admiral Chester Nimitz disclosed the Tinian landings only a few hours after they started, reporting light ground opposition against the first waves on troops.

Tinian is three miles south of conquered Saipan and from the latter has been steadily blasted by planes and artillery. With this preparation, elements of the Second and Fourth marine divisions moved in at dawn Sunday. Fleet-borne and land planes and guns backed them up.

Four days earlier Nimitz' amphibious forces invaded Guam, largest of the Marianas. By Sunday they had taken five miles of western coastline isolated Apra harbor—one of the Pacific's best—and cut off an airfield on Orote peninsula, which forms Apra's southern side.

Losing Long Held Islands
To the south Agaña village and Mt. Alifan overlooking the harbor fell to the First Marine provisional brigade and the 77th army division. Then they swung north toward Orote peninsula for a junction with the northern force. Enemy opposition, compared to that on bloody Saipan, was light on Guam and Tinian.

Japan has held all the Marianas except Guam, since the first World War, when under the Versailles treaty it got them by mandate.

Now they are being lost. Rota and Pagan, the two other important inhabited islands of the group, seem next on the list.

Adm. Ernest King, fresh from an inspection of Saipan, told a Pearl Harbor press conference: "You can draw a line from Saipan and see that in 1,500 miles it will strike the Philippines, Formosa or even Japan. One thousand five hundred miles is considered a fair operation radius for the fleet."

Southwest Pacific planes bombed Yap, Palau and Woleai, south of the Marianas, in support of Nimitz' invasions. They also sank a small enemy vessel 70 miles off the southern Philippines, an achievement significant in that it revealed close patrol of these waters.

The Chinese still held Hengyang; the Allies slowly closed in on Myittha in north Burma and British troops struggled across monsoon-gorged rivers in pursuit of the Japanese who vainly invaded India.

They Don't All Fight to the End

Some Japs may have fought with fanatical fury to the bitter end, but not the pair seen in the photo above. Upon the approach of the group of Marines in background, they popped up out of their Saipan Island foxholes, arms aloft in surrender. Capper Predicts Nazi Collapse in 100 Days

TOPEKA, July 24.—(P)—Sen. Arthur Capper (R-Kas) says he has received reports indicating Germany may collapse within the next 100 days.

"It does begin to look possible that is the case," the senate foreign relations committee member said in a talk prepared for radio broadcast yesterday. "If the Russian armies keep on moving, I would say that German resistance on all fronts will likely fold up within that length of time."
